

5th December 2008

The Joint Administrators regretfully announce the closure of Speedferries Limited (In Administration). The Joint Administrators have been exploring every possible avenue to save the business since 12 November 2008 and it is unfortunate that a buyer for the business has not been found.

Speedferries Limited (In Administration) will now cease to operate services between Dover and Boulogne and customers with pre-booked tickets are advised to seek alternative travel arrangements.

Customers who have booked by way of credit card should contact their credit card providers to determine if they are eligible to claim a refund for these now cancelled services.

Additional information that may assist you with your claim from your credit card provider may be found on the 'Credit Card Information' web page.

All creditors, including customers who are affected by the cancelled crossings, will be contacted by the Joint Administrators in due course.

Should customers wish to register queries with the Administrators they are advised to email speedferries@uk.ey.com. Due to the high volume of responses anticipated your patience is appreciated and you will receive a response in due course.

Previous statements are available on the 'Press Releases' web page.
